WEBSTER COUNTY
PARTNER AGENCY: WEBSTER COUNTY SENIOR SERVICES

Jane Doe is now an elderly retired County Aging Coordinator. She used to know how the program worked and what services were available to her. However, things have changed in the past 25 years since she worked and everything is different when it is your need. Her husband passed away and now she lives alone. Occasionally, her troubled son lives with her when he is out of work and having marital problems. About ten years ago, Jane was diagnosed with cancer and her health continued to decline from complications along with other sickness. It was at that time she began to receive the "Meals on Wheels" along with housekeeping service and personal care. We call Jane and visit when possible because she is so isolated. She is always very appreciative of everything we do for her. Recently the case manager and I talked about how controlling the son is and had concerns about how good he is to her. Visually you can see he is no help around the house with the upkeep. It is important to keep close contact with Ms. Doe so she will know we are there for her should she have other needs.
