

New Beginnings

Joe is an established client who attends appointments diligently every week. She rarely misses as she feels therapy at New Beginnings is important for her processing of child and adult sexual abuse. Joe is very isolated with few support systems and is a caretaker for an elderly family member. When COVID disrupted our lives and became a serious threat, Joe was unable to attend therapy sessions as she didn't have access to internet for telehealth appointments. Her support system got smaller, her and her family member became sick and thankfully recovered. After New Beginnings received some integral funding, we were able to purchase some hot spots for clients who didn't have access to confidential internet. Joe was able to utilize this and begin attending appointments weekly via telehealth and continue her treatment plan in a healthy and safe environment.
